The reserve includes land that is mapped as featuring coastal wetland on the southern section of the reserve which comprises approximately 25% of the reserve area. This section is protected under State Environmental Planning Policy (Coastal Management) 2018. The Natural Area (wetland) categorisation is proposed for the protected section only and would not be considered to further materially harm the public recreation use of the site particularly given the nature of the protection already afforded to the area under the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979. Park and Natural Area (foreshore) categorisations are proposed for the remainder of the reserve given the existing condition of the land which is generally vegetated river foreshore featuring established walking tracks. Given the environmental context of the land, the public recreation reserve purpose is supported by the established walkways through the foreshore area.
