Murwillumbah CBD to get a splash of colour

Pop-up seating and planters painted by local artists are set to be installed across Murwillumbah CBD as part of a short-term project to enhance street vibrancy, pedestrian amenity and to increase activity to support local businesses.

Eight cylinder-shaped art seats and planters are due to be installed in central Murwillumbah next week.

Artists including Jason King, Mealie Batchelor, Judy Oakenfull, Mitch Schultz, Philip Hay and Cam Scale have been busy preparing the seating at MIArts Precinct in the town.

The seats will be located on the corner of Murwillumbah and Brisbane Streets, as well as on the north and south side of the central pedestrian crossing on Murwillumbah Street.

As part of the Tweed Green Parklet, Public Art and Activation project, two temporary parklets will also be installed in the town during November. Located in front of the BGF Building in Queen Street and in front of MIArts in Brisbane Street, the parklets will incorporate seating, greenery and interactive spaces to enhance street appeal.

Weather permitting, the first parklet will be installed next week in Brisbane Street.

Minor traffic disruption is expected during the installation.

The project is supported by the NSW Government's Streets as Shared Spaces initiative.

Council is inviting visitors and residents to take part in a pre-installation survey on their use of Murwillumbah before the streetscape improvements are trialled. Visit www.yoursaytweed.com.au/parklet to have your say by Saturday 31 October 2020.

A beautiful way to remember

The Tweed Valley Cemetery at Eviron offers a range of services and arrangements in a beautiful and peaceful location.

With a wide range of garden and lawn sites suitable for family or individual memorials, Tweed Valley Cemetery can provide for burials, cremations and ash interments in a caring and respectful manner.

The cemetery also offers a naturally beautiful and unique outdoor option to celebrate the life of a loved one, overlooking the duck pond and picturesque gardens.

Services and wakes can be held onsite in the historic non-denominational chapel.

Beautiful options are also available for burials and interment at the Tweed Heads Lawn Cemetery and General Cemetery and the Murwillumbah Lawn and General Cemetery.

Did you know?

There is much to consider when it comes to funerals. Early planning can help ease the strain and ensure your family understands your wishes. Here are some of the things you'll need to think about:

- For a burial, you'll need a plot and a coffin (the coffin can be made from a number of different materials – cardboard is fine)
- For a cremation, you'll also need a coffin (again cardboard is also fine)
- The lowest cost farewell is a direct delivery cremation (no service, no attendance)
- There's nothing stopping you having a 'live wake' – a party to celebrate your life while you're still here to enjoy it – or having your friends and family celebrate your life in whatever way is meaningful to them
- You may wish to get a funeral director or celebrant to help with arranging the funeral
- Think about an environmentally friendly coffin or ashes container
- Optional extras include a church or chapel ceremony, catering, service booklets, flowers, newspaper notice, etc.
- You can also bring your loved one home for up to five days, without embalming in most cases. The body is kept on a refrigeration plate.
