

LIVING FOR THE FUTURE

HOME EXPO

Saturday 12 September, 9am - 2pm | Murwillumbah Civic Centre

FREE WORKSHOPS

* Free shuttle bus from Tweed Heads Civic Centre to Murwillumbah Civic Centre, every hour on the hour, 9am to 2pm.
Return trip from Murwillumbah to Tweed Heads, every hour on the half hour, 9.30am to 2.30pm

Between workshops, connect with stallholders from more than 30 local businesses, community groups and Council programs who will be on hand with a range of products, services and information to help make your home more healthy, comfortable and environmentally-friendly.

The story of my sustainable house

Michael Mobbs will share his top tips on renovating homes to make them self-sufficient in water, wastewater and power.

The 17 Things

Cecille Weldon, founder and CEO of the Centre for Livability Real Estate will highlight the liveability features to look for when you're buying, renovating or renting a home.

Goodbye to the backyard?

Tony Hall will talk about his book, The Life and Death of the Australian Backyard, the roles that backyards play, and the trends in urban planning leading to the demise of the backyard.

Preparing for the end of the solar feed-in-tariff

Lee Duke from SAE Tweed will highlight options for rooftop solar owners so they can prepare for when the Solar Bonus feed-in tariff finishes in 2016.

Be inspired by this year's exciting line-up of presenters and join in any of the free workshops on offer, from bee-keeping to going off the grid; backyard biodiversity to green granny flat designs which make the most of our beautiful Northern Rivers climate.
