

Tweed Shire Council wishes to recognise the generations of the local Aboriginal people of the Tweed Bundjalung Nation who have lived in and derived their physical and spiritual needs from the forests, rivers, lakes and streams of this beautiful valley over many thousands of years as the traditional custodians of these lands.

Congratulations to our Australia Day Award winners

The Tweed Citizen of the Year is refugee advocate Joan Henderson of Uriup, an honour which was announced at an Australia Day event in Murwillumbah last Thursday.

Joan is an active member and co-convenor of the Uki Refugee Project, a community group offering support and advocating on behalf of refugees and asylum seekers in Australia.

Joan and the Uki Refugee Project members lobby politicians for policy change and encourage wider community awareness through fundraising events, as well as organising friendship visits for refugees to the Tweed.

Following the fall of Kabul into the hands of the Taliban in 2021, Joan has taken upon herself the almost impossible task of bringing to safety some of the people at the highest risk of arrest and death.

She is relentless in her work of preparing visa applications, keeping communications open day and night with people who are hiding in the mountains.

The awards ceremony was followed by a Citizenship Ceremony which saw 35 residents from 17 countries across all continents of the globe become the Tweed's newest Australians.

The other Australia Day Awards winners were:

The 2022 Arts and Culture Award went to Allira Cornell. Allira has a passion for bringing arts and culture to the Tweed, providing a venue for a diverse range of films, live performance and theatre. Her work restoring Murwillumbah's much-loved Regent Cinema has brought an important cultural icon of the Tweed back to life. Allira is also a great supporter of the community. There was also an Honourable Mention awarded in this category which went to Murwillumbah Arts Trail.

The 2022 Community Event of the Year went to the Kinship Festival. The festival is a celebration of Aboriginal art, dance, community and culture for the whole community to enjoy. The event provides an opportunity for people from all walks of life to see and appreciate local Indigenous culture that's alive and thriving. There was an Honourable Mention awarded in this category which went to Tyalgum Music Festival.

There were joint winners in the 2022 Sporting Achievement of the Year - Individual award. Xane Bowen is a 16-year-old triathlete who last year placed second at the National All Schools Triathlon and is the NSW Champion. In 2021 he won the title of Youth Champion of Australia. He began his journey as a young junior member of the Tweed Valley Triathletes.

Chloe Covell is an impressive young street skateboarder who is well on her way to qualifying for the Paris 2024 Olympics, after being placed 7th overall while representing Australia at the qualifying event in Rome. In 2022, she competed at the open women's level at XGames Japan, where she received a bronze medal, and at XGames USA, scoring a silver medal. These medals make Chloe the youngest XGames athlete to achieve 2 medals before the age of 13.

The 2022 Sporting Achievement of the Year - Group went to Tweed Dragons Inc. The Tweed Dragons provide opportunities for people aged 12 to 70+ to be included in the wonderful community activity of dragon boating. Having success at state, national and world titles is icing on the cake for this community-minded group. After 2 years of pandemic-affected championships, their 2022 results speak for themselves - 3 gold, 6 silver and 3 bronze placings at the State titles and one gold and 5 silver medals at the National titles.

The 2022 Young Achiever in Community Service went to Lily O'Sullivan. Eighteen-year-old Lily is an outstanding young athlete who spent many years volunteering with Cudgen Headland Surf Life Saving Club. At the Youth World Life Saving Championships in Italy, she won 7 out of a possible 7 surf events. Apart from her sporting achievements, Lily spends time giving back to her community through volunteer lifesaving, training nippers and working with children through the NDIS. She assisted in ferrying to safety any affected by last year's flood and volunteering at the evacuation centre at Kingscliff TAFE.

The 2022 Volunteer of the Year - Individual went to Alex Dale. Alex is one of the unsung heroes of the Tweed. He has worked tirelessly for decades for environmental causes, planting trees for groups such as Fingal Dune Care and Friends of Cudgen Nature Reserve. He has also given 100s of hours to Team Koala, organising fun days for families at Pottsville and setting up for markets. Alex's tireless dedication, his ability to encourage and work with others and his vision for the Tweed are remarkable.

The 2022 Volunteer of the Year - Group went to Cudgen Rural Fire Brigade. The brigade is a diverse group of volunteers who all share the same passion and commitment for volunteering in their local community, spending many thousands of unpaid hours assisting others. The respected brigade responds to more than 100 incidents a year, including house and bush fires, vehicle accidents and automatic fire alarms. The Cudgen Rural Fire Brigade played a very big role in last year's floods, spending more than 2 weeks sandbagging, rescuing residents and in the clean-up. There was an Honourable Mention awarded in this category to Volunteers Agape Outreach.

Celebrating our wetlands

Thursday 2 February is World Wetlands Day.

Wetlands are critically important ecosystems that contribute to biodiversity, climate mitigation and adaptation, freshwater availability, world economies and more.

Over the past 10 years, Council has been working with landowners Peter and Narelle Harrington on restoring vegetation along 2.5 km of Piggabeen and Cobaki Creek.

Fencing has been installed and several thousand trees planted to stabilise the creek banks with funding through the River Health Grant program.

The property contains an 18ha freshwater wetland, one of the largest remaining freshwater wetlands in the Tweed.

David and Kaye McNaught of Tweed River Pecans recently fenced cattle out of a wetland area on their farm with assistance from our Sustainable Agriculture Small Grants Program.

In less than 12 months, they have witnessed the re-emergence of aquatic plant and animal species and observed a noticeable improvement in the quality of water leaving the wetland.

Tweed Landcare Inc also has funding from the Environmental Trust to assist the Harringtons to eradicate the aquatic weed Salvinia and implement a trial to monitor the effects of grazing exclusion on biodiversity and wetland health.

Help make 2023 the biggest Clean Up Australia Day

Step up to Clean up the Tweed on Sunday 5 March – it's Clean up Australia Day and Council wants you to help us make it the biggest one we have had in the Tweed!

You can get involved by registering for a clean-up event that will help positively impact your local community. Register as an individual, group of friends or family, as a business, school or youth group.

If you want to join an existing clean up, we will keep you posted about all the clean ups in the area.

Clean Up Australia Day is all about protecting our local environment, not just on the day, but every day, 365 days a year.

There are many ways you can reduce your impact on the environment – every little bit helps. Something as simple as pledging to use a reusable bottle instead of buying water is a small start working towards a more sustainable future.

“Council is proud to be a supporting Clean Up Australia Day 2023.

This is an opportunity for our community to work together, taking practical actions to improve our beautiful environment,” Council's Resource Recovery Education Officer Dominique Pomeroy said.

Getting involved makes a real difference to the increased pressures on our environment and the ever-growing volume of waste leaking into it.”

Flood recovery update – 1 February

Murwillumbah Community Centre

Work has commenced on flood restoration repair of the Murwillumbah Community Centre (MCC) at Knox Park.

The service has been operating on a temporary basis out of Council's Coolamon Centre in Tumbulgum Road since its headquarters in Knox Park was inundated in February 2022.

To ensure better protection during future flood events, repair works will build in greater flood resilience through measures such as raising power and data points, installing cement sheeting in amenities areas, replacement of wall tiles with epoxy coat waterproofing, replacing timber doors with aluminium and glass inserts, ensuring all low cabinetry in kitchens, laundry and reception etc will be stainless steel construction, any carpeted areas will now be epoxy coatings and replacement of timber skirting with reusable aluminium type skirting.

Murwillumbah Community Centre after the 2022 flood.

While restoration work continues, the MCC has resumed normal services at the Coolamon Centre in Murwillumbah. The MCC service will also be operating from the Anglican Church at 41 Pearl St, Kingscliff.

For those seeking flood recovery support, bookings are required. For more information contact the MCC on 02 6672 3003.

Services NSW ceased outreach operations from the Coolamon Centre on Tuesday this week. After this date, Services NSW will resume operations, including flood recovery assistance, at its premises opposite the former railway station on Tweed Valley Way, Murwillumbah. For further information please contact Service NSW on 13 77 88.

Assessment of flood-contaminated land

If your residential or small business property is in the Tweed and you are concerned that the soil on your property may have been contaminated by the February and March 2022 floods, you can request to have the land assessed.

The assessment is carried out by qualified inspectors as part of the Contaminated Lands Assessment Program. This program is being managed by the NSW Environment Protection Authority (EPA) and is being jointly funded by the NSW and Australian Governments under the Disaster Recovery Funding Arrangements.

You can complete the online form for yourself or on behalf of someone else.

Property owners and tenants will need to submit a separate request for each property.

Applications close 30 June 2023.

All ground surface level property assessments performed under the program will be assessed by a land contamination expert engaged by the EPA, with priority being based on the risk to public health and the environment.

The program will not reimburse you for flood contamination assessment costs if the assessment has already been performed or completed.

For more information, registering and frequently asked questions, visit the EPA website www.epa.nsw.gov.au

Scenic Drive

Motorists using Scenic Drive will notice further changes to traffic conditions when contractor Australian Marine and Civil Pty Ltd seals the restored section of the site A slip site.

Following the sealing of the restored lane at site A, traffic has switched lanes to allow for drainage work on the north side of Scenic Drive to be completed.

One lane of traffic will remain open, under the control of traffic lights while the work is completed.

The Scenic Drive section of the road across the major slip site B has had the guardrails installed and the linemarking completed with both lanes of traffic open.

Line marking at site A will be carried out in early February.

AMC's original time schedule is planned for all works to be completed by the end of March 2023. Given good progress to date, work is highly likely to be finalised earlier (weather permitting).

Council will continue to provide updates as more information comes to hand.

For more information on these and other repairs, visit tweed.nsw.gov.au/flood-recovery-works and tweed.nsw.gov.au/flood-recovery-update

Your recycled E-waste is having a positive impact

E-waste or electronic waste is unwanted electronic equipment, printers, computers – most kinds of IT and communication equipment – that has reached the end of its life.

As a Tweed resident you can drop old televisions and computer equipment off for free all year round at the permanent collection point at Stotts Creek Resource Recovery Centre.

Last year, our community dropped off 35,837 kilograms of E-waste to the centre which was then recycled and used in a range of other products.

Why is recycling e-waste so important?

By recycling your e-waste equipment, you keep it out of landfill – that's your red bin.

Keeping our recyclable goods out of landfill means we are reducing our environmental impact.

We did this last year by:

- Saving 48,667 KG CO2E (a greenhouse gas). This is the equivalent of planting 717 trees
- Saving 597,367 mj of energy or the equivalent of 1,756 days of household electricity use
- Saving 93 m3 eq. of water equivalent or 185 days of household water use
- Saving 85,077g of particulate matter, or the equivalent of removing 85,830km of old diesel truck travel.

We would like to thank the community for helping us to achieve this – it is just one way we are working together to reduce our impact on the natural environment.

For more information on how you can do your bit to reduce what goes to landfill in the Tweed, visit tweed.nsw.gov.au/tip-resource-recovery
